LEST SOME OF US FORGET

According to the temperature gauges, a lot of Americans are getting hot under the collar. Statements of accusation and rebuttal are beginning to stir.

Lest some of us forget that the United States is at war with the toughest combination of enemies it ever tackled, it would be a good plan right now to think about the consequences of fighting each other, instead of Germans, Japanese and the cussedness of the general situation.

Opposite England, across the channel in Europe, lies the territory of a country whose people became so engrossed in cutting each other's throats they let the Germans wear min and make vassals of all of them. The United States isn't France, and the United States isn't going to be licked, but even this powerful country isn't immune to the terrible consequences of internal bickering when a solid front is needed. It is subject to all the things that have brought on the downfall of other nations.

This country can't have its cake and eat it. That one goes back to the notion that a war economy could be super-imposed on a civilian economy and no one would have to give up anything—and the notion dies hard. Another notion which needs to be thrown out with the trash is that the United States is doing all right when it is doing well enough to satisfy itself. That's some sort of a hangover from isolation. An American patriot in this war has not done his job until he has done the best he can—and that leaves a lot of leeway for improvement. As long as there is an American fighting man waiting for something to fight with, or an ally of this country waiting for something we could put in his hands to hasten victory and save lives, the national war effort cannot be called satisfactory.

It is reported that President Roosevelt may tackle the threatened disintegration of American unity with forthright action early this year. But aside from appealing for a higher resolve and a stronger sense of cooperation, there is something the chief executive should do which Mr. Roosevelt apparently cannot do. The sources of confusion which produce misunderstanding and bitterness need to be removed, and administrative confusion has been an integral part of the Roosevelt administration as Mrs. Roosevelt.

Confusion in dealing with organized labor's demands can be traced to divided and muddled authority and policies for dealing with those demands. Labor has been led to think it can behave as it is behaving not by some mysterious impulse peculiar to itself, but by plain, ordinary awareness of the fact that its behavior has been paying off. When this government let itself be waltzed around by John L. Lewis, it invited every other labor leader to try the same tactics. And further back than that, when the Roosevelt administration began to monkey with the political dynamite of setting labor against management to keep things lively at the polls, it made certain that if it ever needed them pulling in double harness to save the country in a war emergency there would be a lot of residual hard feelings left over.

The mistakes of the past can't be undone. The job now is to pull together to win the greatest possible victory with the least possible sacrifice of life. Americans can fight each other, if they choose to do it that way. They can vent their spleen, unleash their arrogance and unbridle their tongues—and they will have one of the ghastliest messes in history. Or they can do it the other way and win the war in a hurry. It's time to give more thought to the possibilities of doing it the other way.

MADE FOR THE AMERICAN EAGLE

There should be a combat airplane in this war named for the American eagle.

Gen. H. H. Arnold's summary of progress under his direction of the army air forces reveals that the United States now has the world's largest air force. It has surmounted the original handicap of unpreparedness to overtake all its rivals. Equipped with a manpower total of 2,385,000 officers and men, backed up by the production of the whole nation and inspired by the same spirit and initiative which made the United States a pioneer in aviation, the army air force is the embodiment of modern air power. It has proved its ability to meet all opposition on never worse than ever terms; in most instances it has held a clear advantage. Today, it is the spearhead of the national war effort. American mastery of the air has emerged as one of the great facts of the war. Our planes circle the globe. Our airmen have made commonplace deeds which only a few years ago scarcely were dreamed of. The American eagle has learned to use his wings.

Gen. Arnold tells the whole story in his summary, but he can only suggest what it means for tomorrow. War has expedited development of a potentiality almost too vast for the mind to grasp. The army air force is only one factor, furthermore. The navy also has developed tremendous air power. Behind military aviation stands a solid foundation of civil aviation. And behind them all stands a nation with the resources and courage to stop at nothing till all the possibilities of flight have been developed.

OUR APPRECIATION

A letter from a hometown boy describing how Christmas day was cheered up for him and a companion by acts of southern hospitality when inability to make the trip home from camp threatened to make it a dismal day suggests that some of us have been remiss in our manners. Our gratitude hasn't been put into words.

Residents of communities far from training camps do not have many occasions to show hospitality to service men. We are especially grateful for the thoughtfulness shown our own young men in the many communities which have been given this obligation. The acts of kindness which are reported more than offset all the other stories that get into circulation—the stories of chiseling and advantage.

No doubt, towns run about the same, and so do the people who live in them. If it ever happens that we have a chance to repay the kindnesses which have cheered our men in strange communities, probably there will be about the same percentage of shortcomings to successes. But the point is that we do appreciate the latter more than we have said or can say.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, January 7

THIS DAY may demand particular attention to affairs with keen insight, grasp of opportunities, and perhaps specialized skill or information in order to make the most of tricky circumstances. The way seems beset with danger and losses, through carelessness, mistakes, flightiness, or false moves in connection with writing, contracts, agencies, or litigation. Restlessness or nervousness may cause trouble or even physical accident, with loss of standing or good name. With prudence and sagacity excellent results might grow from doubtful beginnings. Be ready but act with discretion, not in confusion or excitement.

Those whose birthday it is may find that the final outcome of their efforts may depend upon their prudent, intelligent, and well-organized preparedness for meeting perplexing or doubtful situations and circumstances. There are some promises of worthwhile success if special talents and skills are backed up by serenity, determination and precaution, not wayward, confused or careless acts. Papers, contracts, litigation, funds and personal hazard are involved in such lack of attention and consideration of treacherous conditions. Even the reputation is at stake.

A child born on this day may be clever, able, and ambitious, but a tendency to expediency, rash or doubtful conduct may deny its progress and stability.

Today we march with a lightened burden, as many of us have nothing more to lose.—Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels.

The other night several of my buddies were awakened by the mosquitoes walking around on their chests and turning over their "dog tags"—to find out what type of blood they had.—Seabee Fred Kuntz in South Pacific.

Polish statesmen seem to have in mind the historically retrospective picture of the defunct Polish Empire, embracing the Baltic countries, the Ukraine and even the great Duchy of Moscow. It is this complex that is responsible for the death of modern Poland.—Dr. Tewik Rustu Aras, former Turkish foreign minister.

The so-called island hopping is due in large measure to the limitation of ways and means. If we had more out there we could strike at more points with more force.—Adm. Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief U. S. fleet.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Control of the Common Cold

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ATTEMPTS TO prevent colds and respiratory infections by any kind of vaccines or inoculation of the individual have proved miserable failures. Some of the worst kinds of blunders go masked under the smiling face of optimism. I regularly read in trade magazines published by drug firms whose business it is to sell oral cold vaccine that "Pessimism characterizes the attitude of many as to preventing the common cold."

That is not pessimism; that is realism: facing the fact that these methods are miserable failures. And the kind of optimism presumably recommended would mulct the public of millions of dollars for perfectly worthless, and time-consuming, methods of prevention.

There is a form of prevention of colds and respiratory affections limited it is true in scope which, however, promises some hope. And it serves a very important field and purpose.

Epidemics in Wards

One of the serious possibilities of these epidemics is when they hit a schoolroom or a hospital ward, particularly a hospital ward full of children. One of the definitely known facts about colds is that they are air-borne, spread by coughing and sneezing. Here one child gets a cold and it is very likely to go through the whole classroom or ward. In the ward some of the children may be in spirits or in braces, which situation reduces their chances of throwing the infection off.

We used to hang up sheets between every bed in an influenza ward to prevent cross-infection, but that did little good.

The latest device is to use a sterilizing vapor of propylene glycol. This substance was developed by research in order to find a chemical vapor that would do no harm to the mucous membrane of human beings, but would destroy or mobilize the organism which causes the common cold.

Vaporized Glycol

In a hospital ward or schoolroom the propylene glycol is vaporized by heat from a small radio resistance unit and wafted through the rooms by electric fans. Units of this type—vaporization apparatus and electric fan—are arranged on stands at the mid-point of the end walls of the room, about three feet from the ceiling.

Methods of measuring the concentration of the vapor have been perfected. It stays in the air a long time, half of it being present an hour after the vaporization had been stopped.

• You aren't exactly sick, you insist—and yet you are not really well. Let's call it a condition of "half-way health." And right now, when there's a world at war, and every ounce of productive effort is sorely needed, any illness is a luxury that none of us can possibly afford!

Why don't you take a practical, common-sense step now to get well—really well. Go call on a good medical Doctor. Give him all the facts; let him prescribe for you.

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

A MEDITERRANEAN BOMBER BASE, Dec. 30.—They have clipped Jimmy Doolittle's wings but they can't keep him on the ground.

The chunky little major general has led dozens of bombing missions, including the first great raid on Rome, but men above him now have decided that the flier who showed the way to Tokyo is too valuable to risk in routine attacks.

In his new job as head of the Eighth air force in Britain, he will help direct and organize great aerial blows against Germany. So eminently, however, his combat days are over; he will call the signals now instead of carrying the ball.

Doolittle had just finished setting up the 15th air force when his new command was announced.

Jimmy is now 47 years old but has the energy and capacity for work of a man half his age. He takes good care of himself and stays in top physical condition because he never wants the day to come when he cannot take a turn at the pilot's control.

When paper work calls he has his E26 medium bomber warmed up and goes in inspection tours of nearby bomber fields.

The general likes to crowd two or three flights like this into his weekly program. He likes this part of his job best because it enables him to keep in familiar touch with the boys who fly the planes, drop the bombs, and shoot down the enemy.

Doolittle would be a very unhappy man if he had to become a swivel chair general.

COMMUNIST PAPER ATTACKS WILLKIE

Pravda Charges 1940 Presidential Nominee With 'Political Gambling'

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Jan. 6.—Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, attacked Wendell Willkie today because of an article he wrote for the New York Times dealing with Russia and the status of Poland and the Baltic states.

Dmitry Zaslavsky, a Pravda writer, accused the U. S. presidential nominee of 1940 of "muddying the waters" in an effort to entice presidential support from persons who do not trust the Soviet union as well as to win sympathy from those who do.

"Such a political gambler destroys confidence," the Pravda comment said. The newspaper added that the Baltic question was the business of the Soviet union and one in which "Mr. Willkie should not interfere."

"As to Finland and Poland, without mentioning the Balkans," Pravda said, "the Soviet union knows how to deal with them and does not need the help of Mr. Willkie."

Playing Peculiar Game

The writer accused Willkie of playing "a very peculiar political game." Zaslavsky said that "under the pretext of strengthening confidence in the Soviet union, Willkie used words and phrases with the purpose of creating distrust." He said the article was written by "Mr. Willkie, candidate for president in the coming elections."

Willkie's story, entitled "Don't Stir Distrust of Russia," appeared in the New York Times magazine section Sunday. In part he said: "There are already forces at work in both parties preparing to take selfish political advantage of any move that Russia may make with regard to these smaller states. The theory of those in the Republican party is that the Republicans should sit tight and see what happens. Mr. Stalin, they believe, will make ruthless territorial demands on the smaller states and these demands will produce a violent anti-Russian reaction among Americans who emigrated, or whose forebears emigrated, from those states. They take the position that by adopting a policy of suspicion toward Russia the Republican party can capture not alone these but others who, for quite different reasons, are prone to be anti-Russian. For all this anti-Russian feeling they believe will inevitably react against Mr. Roosevelt to the advantage of the Republican party.

Dangerous Course

"This kind of approach appears to me dangerously irresponsible and almost totally destructive."

"Yet such would-be Republican leaders are by no means the only offenders; on the contrary, the offense of the Democratic party are equally glaring. The Roosevelt administration apparently has its eye on votes in 1944. It, too, seems to be angling for, or anxious to retain, the support of some of the anti-Russian groups. Its signal failure long ago to assume leadership of the new forces in the world was for no other apparent reason than that it did not want to antagonize strong elements in the Democratic party which are on the whole anti-Russian. And that failure of leadership has contributed greatly to the emergence of Mr. Stalin as the single most potent statesman in international affairs."

Vera Leona Davis Of Washingtonville Is Bride of Marine

WASHINGTONVILLE, Jan. 6.—Miss Vera Leona Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Davis of Washingtonville, became the bride of Pfc. Richard Thornton Hauer of the Marine corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hauer of Cincinnati, at Divinity chapel at Wittenberg college at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Rev. W. Curtis Laughbaum, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church at Washingtonville officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The Attendants

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Myrna, and the bridesmaid, Mrs. P. R. Schuller, a Chi Omega sorority sister of Springfield. Harold Saum of Springfield was best man.

A half hour of organ music preceded the ceremony, including "O Promise Me," "Because," "I Love You Truly" and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was dressed in white moire taffeta with a finger tip veil, and carried white carnations. The maid of honor wore fuschia moire taffeta and the bridesmaid wore ice blue moire, each carrying carnations.

The bride's mother wore a two-piece aqua crepe with black accessories, with a corsage of pink rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother wore black with a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Hauer is a graduate of Leetonia High school, class of 1939, and of Wittenberg college in 1943 where she was a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Hauer is a graduate of Winthrop High school at Cincinnati, attended Wittenberg college and was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity and is now stationed at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Reception in Springfield

Germany, Japan Set For Worst Before Ultimate Collapse

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Bolted by the big reserves of slave labor and secret police to keep the home front from cracking, both Germany and Japan can take heavy punishment before collapsing, the Office of War Information warned today.

In a report on war progress which weighed past gains against the job ahead, OWI dashed cold water on any ideas about a quick, easy victory.

About 550,000 square miles of Axis-conquered territory have been liberated in recent Allied offensives, an area bigger than Germany, France and Belgium combined, but this is only a fraction of the territory overrun by the Nazi panzers and Nippon's hordes, OWI said.

The 390,000 square miles recaptured from Germany amounts to one-fifth of the area originally taken by Hitler, it was pointed out, while the 160,150 square miles wrested from Japan is a mere twentieth of the territory grabbed by the island empire.

Defenses Will Tighten

Germany has 300 divisions in the field, and Japan can put 80 divisions of her fanatic troops into battle, OWI estimated.

LEND-LEASE

said the British were redistributing lend-lease goods under their own labels.

Explain 'Gas' Use

Another section evidently was aimed at reports civilians in North Africa were burning up American gasoline while motorists in this country were compelled to skimp. It said all oil products, upon arrival in the area, are allocated by Allied headquarters and essential civilian services in the first eight months of last year got less than a fourth of the gasoline normally consumed.

None of the fuel, the report said, was allocated for pleasure driving or non-essential services.

The report noted many private cars had been requisitioned in North Africa and added: "Since these cars in many cases are not clearly marked as military vehicles they may lead a casual observer to believe that more cars are using gasoline for civilian purposes than is the fact."

Only a minute fraction of one percent of America's coal production has moved into lend-lease channels, the reports said.

Russia, it said, is the only country on the list for lend-lease butter and had received 33,500 tons.

Lend-lease aid to Russia in the first 10 months of last year was up 63 per cent over all of 1942, with aircraft, ordnance and other munitions constituting 56 per cent.

Great Benefit To Russians

"The lend-lease aid we have furnished," the report asserted, "has been effectively used in the Red army's advances in the Ukraine and White Russia. Through October we sent to the U. S. S. R. nearly 7,000 planes, more than to any other lend-lease country; more than 3,500 tanks and 195,000 motor vehicles, including trucks, jeeps, motorcycles, and other vehicles."

Exports of foodstuffs to the Soviet union included 343,000 tons of wheat and flour, 277,000 tons of sugar, 324,000 tons of canned meat, 441,000 tons of fat and oils, 136,000 tons of dried fruits and vegetables and 38,000 tons of dried eggs.

Munitions comprised 48 per cent of lend-lease exports to Britain in the first 10 months of 1943. The report said lend-lease planes and bombs are helping to devastate German industries. It mentioned tremendous offensives to be launched from Britain.

Taking cognizance of demands that America be allowed to retain airfields she has built abroad after the war, the report said lend-lease equipment installed in the fields would be taken into account in final lend-lease settlements.

"The question of the future use of airfields in all parts of the world, both for strategic use of airfields for strategic and commercial purposes," it said, "involves many other factors besides lend-lease, of course. The final and complete answer can be found only through the continuing and successful collaboration of the United Nations in international commerce after the war and the development of a system of general military security in which the interests of both the United States and other United Nations are fully protected."

East Palestine Soldier Wins Silver Star Award

EAST PALESTINE, Jan. 6.—The Army's Silver Star award for gallantry in action has been made in Italy to Sgt. Harold E. Knode of East Palestine, his wife and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knode, of the Unity rd., have learned.

Sgt. Knode, a mortar squad leader, efficiently and effectively directed mortar fire within hearing and under enemy fire, thereby saving the left flank of the American position by knocking out an enemy mortar and two machine guns. He returned several times under fire from his own position in the front lines to make sure the correct ranges were being passed by telephone to the platoon command post.

The East Palestine soldier is with American troops in the Fifth army in Italy.

TRY THE SALEM NEWS

The War Today
By DeWitt MacKenzie

to record that the Allied conferences of Moscow and Tehran appear to have brought the Russians into full partnership with England and the United States. Frankly, prior to those parleys Moscow had been holding aloof, and the understanding among the Big Three was far from perfect.

Now these three dominant powers are in an accord which appears to ensure all-out collaboration in prosecuting the war. It also provides a degree of friendly trustfulness which should enable solution of post-war differences which are bound to arise. That doesn't mean that we aren't going to encounter some pretty stiff heart-burnings, but there's ground for hope that with a reasonable degree of give-and-take the problems will be solved.

Thus there would seem to be no cause for panic over the thought of the Russians reaching Berlin first. I do think, though, that we should be rather naive to believe that if our Soviet allies did get there ahead of us, they wouldn't display some of the usual traits of human nature under such circumstances. Human nature would be inclined to accept at least a modicum of the prestige and other benefits which accrue to the early bird.

Quakers Face Alliance On Home Floor Tomorrow Night

AVIATORS FAVORED TO WIN EXPECTED TOUGH ENGAGEMENT

Visitors, Who Beat Canton McKinley Last Week, Have Lost One Game

Boasting a surprise upset of Canton McKinley's Bulldogs last week, Coach "Jerry" Mosher and his cheerleaders, Alliance Aviators will visit the local High school gym tomorrow night for the first of two games scheduled between Alliance and Salem this season.

The contest is scheduled to start at 8:45, just after the reserve game, and is the first round in the Alliance-Salem home-and-home series this season. The Quakers have three series lined up for them, two others with East Liverpool and Canton Lincoln.

The Aviators, manned by four lettermen, have taken four of their five opponents. They opened the season by knocking off a difficult Sebring squad by two points and then went on to defeat Wadsworth in their second contest.

Campbell Memorial gave the Aviators a stiff test but fell three points below the mark set by Mosher's charges. In their only loss of the year Alliance dropped from a tie score in the final quarter to lose 33 to 22 to Canton Timken's powerful squad. Timken has been rated second to Canton Lehman in the Stark county seat.

Canton Rallied Too Late
Just last Friday the Aviators went to Canton McKinley and took the Bulldogs 31 to 28 in a sharp-shooting contest that found McKinley "off" on their floor shots. The Canton squad didn't hit the hoop during the entire first half, but came back in the second to almost equal the total. Alliance collected more points from the floor than Alliance but couldn't click on their foul shots for the needed three points.

Coach Mosher uses his four lettermen well, combining their talents with those of Bill Sudeck, a newcomer to the varsity who has been ringing up plenty of points from his forward.

The lettermen are Frank Rodgers, the tallest Aviator on the squad, at forward; Kenny Chapman, at center; Walt Wollam and Jack Robinson, in the guard assignments. Chapman towers about six feet in height and Rodgers about one inch over the big center.

Other three starters are of about average height and will compare equally to Brown's squad.

Hard Tussle Looms
The game tomorrow promises to be a hard-fought one, as Salem-Alliance clashes generally arouse winning spirits in both aggregations. Alliance comes to the local court favored to take the Quakers by virtue of a comparison of the season's records.

The Quakers, victorious in half of their six contests, have only succeeded in winning the games on their card that they were expected to win without much difficulty. In the other three battles Brown's charges met stiff competition and all three of them failed to win. Alliance has taken four games in all, three of them over comparatively stiffer opposition than Salem has beaten.

The local gym floor will be a disadvantage to the visiting outfit. Alliance has been playing on the roomy Mount Union college floor in their home contests and will have trouble maneuvering on the cramped Quaker floor.

Probable Team Starters
Another novelty for the Aviators will be the metal, cut-corner backboards in the Salem gym. It will be the first contest this season that the visitors have run into this type of board, a factor that may present some trouble for them.

Coach Brown, though not definitely decided on his starting group, will probably use Walter Brian at center, Ray Wise and Francis Lanney at guards to do the ball handling in the back court, and Norman Smith working with Frank Entriken down in the corner spots. There is a good possibility that either Schaeffer or Stoudt will be in at the start for Lanney and Smith, but Brown hasn't set his plans as yet.

The Alliance reserves will engage the locals in a preliminary tussle before the varsity game. The first game is slated to begin at 7:30.

Barons Rout Hornets

(By Associated Press)
Gleefully breaking loose from their Pittsburgh jinx, the Cleveland Barons routed the Hornets, 9 to 3, in the American league last night. In four previous games the Barons had their hands full in winning two, Pittsburgh won one and the other ended in a tie.

RICH PRIZES LURE NATION'S BOWLERS

First Big ABC Tournament Scheduled This Week-end In Chicago

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—The American Bowling Congress is a war casualty but big-time competition is very much alive in Chicago where tournaments, offering rich prizes, again this winter are luring the nation's top bowlers.

The first big tourney of 1944 is scheduled for this weekend, the eighth annual Ray Schaik five-man holiday sweepstakes, and 96 teams, the best in the Midwest, will compete for 16 cash awards. Top prize money will be $1,000, and 15 other awards will total $3,800.

The teams will bowl four games across eight alleys. Ned Day, who regained his National Individual match game championship in the All-Star tourney here last month, probably will compete, bowling with a Milwaukee team.

The biggest individual prize ever offered in any bowling tourney—$5,100—is the pot of gold which a record number of bowlers will shoot for in the 31st Peterson classic which will start Jan. 22. Second prize is not exactly pin money, $2,500, while the complete prize list for the event, regarded as one of the most popular in the country, will total $30,400.

The Peterson classic is expected to draw a record total of 1,216 bowlers, breaking last year's high entry of 832.

Running concurrently with the Peterson classic will be Dominick De Vito's eight-game sweepstakes, with more than 400 keggers expected to compete for a first prize of $1,000.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 6.—Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university said today there were 10 fatalities in the 1943 football season but that none was due to college games.

Dr. Eastwood's report, submitted to the Football Rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association and the committee on injuries and fatalities of the American Football Coaches' association, said last season was the second in 12 years the college sport had been without a fatality.

Nine of the 1943 fatalities were among members of High school teams and one was on an athletic club eleven.

142 Score Tops In Los Angeles Open

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Medalist honors in the $12,500 Los Angeles golf championship were in the possession today of Harry Bassler, veteran professional of the local Fox Hills course, who fired a 72-70-142 yesterday to top a field of 109 qualifiers.

There wasn't anything steady about Bassler's performance. He was hot one minute, cold another. He bagged three birdies and nullified them with as many bogies on his first round, then was one under par on five holes and one over on three on the afternoon tour. At that, he finished two under par for Fox Hills.

This course, and Sunset fields, where the other half of the group was competing, were slowed by recent rains, and there were few sub-par rounds. Scores of 154 or better were necessary at Fox Hills and 161 at Sunset fields.

HIALEAH PARK AT MIAMI WILL RE-OPEN

(By Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6.—Glamorous Hialeah park, with its pink flamingos and exotic landscaping, re-opens tomorrow after skipping an entire winter racing season because of wartime difficulties.

The horses today make a final whirl around Tropical park, where through 19 days of racing fans have passed $6,686,020 through the pari-mutuel wickets, or an average of $351.895 daily.

Hialeah's average daily handle in 1942, when the track last operated, was $520,185 for a 46-day total of $23,928,538. Its richer purses and outstanding stakes, including the $25,000 Widener, the $15,000 Flamingo and the $7,500 McLennan, attract fine horses, and in the past, the greatest throngs.

Miamians in other years considered the winter tourist season in its stride when Hialeah opened. That isn't true in 1944. The entire Miami area has been jammed for months.

Signal Corps communications training is given in 50 military and 268 civilian schools.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—On first thought it seemed that Branch Rickey must have been talking to prod the other major league bases to prod his cigar smoke—when he suggested last week that pro football might supplant baseball as our national game. . . . But on second thought, why not? . . . If hockey, another rough, tough game, can stretch out its season from 22 games—which was considered the limit when the National league started in 1917—to 50 or more, the footballers ought to manage a six-months season. . . . As for playing fields, a few more touches of the big dough and the clubs should be able to build their own stadia. . . . In fact, some colleges (like Pitt, for instance) might be willing to sell their white elephants cheap.

As a player, Dusty made four trips to the big leagues but admits he was there "only long enough for coffee." . . . The reason came out once when a Texas league rookie asked Bogges' advice on how to shake a batting slump. . . . "Shucks, kid, I don't know," replied Dusty. "Just do what I did. Retire after you've been in one for a dozen years."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Although Count Fleet went won races at 1 to 20 odds last summer, he wasn't the year's shortest-priced winner. On May 19 a horse named Indian Goods won at Victoria park, Canada, and returned $2.05 for $2 or 1 to 40. . . . Raymond Johnson, the cornerstone of the Nashville Tennessee sports dept., picked five football Bowl winners in advance and folks are wondering if that's a record.

Minor League Baseball Makes Strong Effort To Carry On

(This is another in a series, written expressly for The Associated Press by sports leaders in which prospects for 1944 are discussed.)

By W. G. BRAMHAM,
President, National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—One cannot make rash predictions with a global war in progress, but minor league baseball has demonstrated its determination to carry on in spite of difficulties encountered. The continuation depends upon the needs of the government in the all-important item of manpower and it has first call.

Quakers Face Alliance On Home Floor Tomorrow Night

AVIATORS FAVORED TO WIN EXPECTED TOUGH ENGAGEMENT

Visitors, Who Beat Canton McKinley Last Week, Have Lost One Game

Boasting a surprise upset of Canton McKinley's Bulldogs last week, Coach "Jerry" Mosher and his unbeaten Alliance Aviators will visit the local High school gym tomorrow night for the first of two games scheduled between Alliance and Salem this season.

The contest is scheduled to start at 8:45, just after the reserve game, and is the first round in the Alliance-Salem home-and-home series this season. The Quakers have three such series lined up for them, two others with East Liverpool and Canton Lincoln.

The Aviators, manned by four lettermen, have taken four of their five opponents. They opened the season by knocking off a difficult Sebring squad by two points and then went on to defeat Wadsworth in their second contest.

Campbell Memorial gave the Aviators a stiff test but fell three points below the mark set by Mosher's charges. In their only loss of the year Alliance dropped from a tie score in the final quarter to lose 33 to 22 to Canton Timken's powerful squad. Timken has been rated second to Canton Lehman in the Stark county seat.

Canton killed Too Late. Just last Friday the Aviators went to Canton McKinley and took the Bulldogs 31 to 28 in a sharp-shooting contest that found McKinley "off" on their floor shots. The Canton squad didn't hit the hoop during the entire first half, but came back in the second to almost equal the total Alliance collected in the whole ball game. The Bulldogs collected more points from the floor than Alliance but couldn't click on their foul shots for the needed three points.

Coach Mosher uses his four lettermen well, combining their talents with those of Bill Sudeck, a newcomer to the varsity who has been ringing up plenty of points from his forward spot.

The lettermen are Frank Rodgers, the tallest Aviator on the squad, at forward; Kenny Chapman, at center; Walt Wollam and Jack Robinson, in the guard assignments. Chapman towers about six feet in height and Rodgers about one inch over the six center. The other three starters are of about average height and will compare equally to Brown's squad.

Hard Tussle Looms. The game tomorrow promises to be a hard-fought one, as Salem-Alliance clashes generally arouse winning spirits in both aggregations. Alliance comes to the local court favored to take the Quakers by virtue of a comparison of the season's records.

The Quakers, victorious in half of their six contests, have only succeeded in winning the games of their card that they were expected to win without much difficulty. In the other three battles, Brown's charges met stiff competition and charged themselves not up to it. Alliance has taken four games in five, three of these four over comparatively stiffer opposition than Salem has beaten.

The local gym floor will be a disadvantage to the visiting outfit. Alliance has been playing on the roomy Mount Union college floor in their home contests and will have trouble maneuvering on the cramped Quaker floor.

Probable Salem Starters. Another novelty for the Aviators will be the metal, cut-corner backboards in the Salem gym. It will be the first contest this season that the visitors have run into this type of board, a factor that may present some trouble for them.

Coach Brown, though not definitely decided on his starting group, will probably use Walter Brian at center, Ray Wise and Francis Laney at guards to do the ball handling in the back court, and Norman Smith working with Frank Entriken down in the corner spots. There is a good possibility that either Schaeffer or Stoudt will be in at the start for Laney and Smith, but Brown hasn't set his plans as yet.

The Alliance reserves will engage the locals in a preliminary tussle before the varsity game. The first game is slated to begin at 7:30.

Barons Rout Hornets

(By Associated Press)
Gleefully breaking loose from their Pittsburgh jinx, the Cleveland Barons routed the Hornets, 9 to 3, in the American league last night. In four previous games the Barons had their hands full in winning two, Pittsburgh won one and the other ended in a tie.
Riddle Shore's Buffalo Bison team, minus Bob Dill, who was traded to the New York Rangers, invades Indianapolis tonight to battle the ever dangerous Caps.

RICH PRIZES LURE NATION'S BOWLERS

First Big ABC Tournament Scheduled This Week-end In Chicago

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—The American Bowling congress is a war casualty but big-time competition is very much alive in Chicago where tournaments, offering rich purses, again this winter are luring the nation's top keggers.

The first big tourney of 1944 is scheduled for this weekend, the eighth annual Ray Schalk five-man holiday sweepstakes, and 96 teams, the best in the Midwest, will compete for 16 cash awards. Top prize money will be $1,000, and 15 other awards will total $3,800.

The teams will bowl four games across eight alleys. Ned Day, who regained his National Individual match game championship in the All-Star tourney here last month, probably will compete, bowling with a Milwaukee team.

The biggest individual prize ever offered in any kegling tourney—$5,100—is the pot of gold which a record number of bowlers will shoot for in the 31st Peterson classic which will start Jan. 22. Second prize is not exactly pin money, $2,500, while the complete prize list for the event, regarded as one of the most popular in the country, will total $30,400.

The Peterson classic is expected to draw a record total of 1,216 bowlers, breaking last year's high entry of 832.
Running concurrently with the Peterson classic will be Dominick De Vito's eight-game sweepstakes, with more than 400 keggers expected to compete for a first prize of $1,000.

10 Fatalities Occurred On Football Fields In 1943

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Jan. 6.—Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood of Purdue university said today there were 10 fatalities in the 1943 football season but that none was due to college games.

Dr. Eastwood's report, submitted to the Football Rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association and the committee on injuries and fatalities of the American Football Coaches association, said last season was the second in 12 years the college sport had been without a fatality.

Nine of the 1943 fatalities were among members of high school teams and one was on an athletic club eleven.

142 Score Tops In Los Angeles Open

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Medalist honors in the $12,500 Los Angeles golf championship were in the possession today of Harry Bassler, veteran professional of the local Fox Hills course, who fired a 72-70-142 yesterday to top a field of 109 qualifiers.

There wasn't anything steady about Bassler's performance. He was hot one minute, cold another. He bagged three birdies and nullified them with a few boges on his first round, then was one under par on five holes and one over on three on the afternoon tour. At that, he finished two under par for Fox Hills.

This course, and Sunset fields, where the other half of the group was competing, were slowed by recent rains, and there were few sub-par rounds. Scores of 154 or better were necessary at Fox Hills and 161 at Sunset fields.

HIALEAH PARK AT MIAMI WILL RE-OPEN

(By Associated Press)
MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6.—The famous Hialeah park, with its pink flamingos and exotic landscaping, re-opens tomorrow after skipping an entire winter racing season because of wartime difficulties.

The horses today make a final whirl around Tropical park, where through 19 days of racing fans have passed $6,686,020 through the pari-mutuels wickets, or an average of $351,895 daily.

Hialeah's average daily handle in 1942, when the track last operated, was $520,185 for a 46-day total of $23,928,538. Its richer purses and outstanding stakes, including the $25,000 Widener, the $15,000 Flamingo and the $7,500 McLennan, attract fine horses, and in the past, the greatest throngs.

Miamians in other years considered the winter tourist season in its stride when Hialeah opened. That isn't true in 1944. The entire Miami area has been jammed for months.

Signal Corps communications training is given in 50 military and 268 civilian schools.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—On first thought it seemed that Branch Rickey must have been talking to prod the other major league baseball magnates—or else just talking through his cigar smoke—when he suggested last week that pro football might supplant baseball as our national game. . . . But on second thought, why not? . . . If hockey, another rough, tough game, can stretch out its season from 22 games—which was considered the limit when the National league started in 1917—to 50 or more, the footballers ought to manage a six-months season. . . . As for playing fields, a few more touches of the big dough and the clubs should be able to build their own stadia. . . . In fact, some colleges (like Pitt, for instance) might be willing to sell their white elephants cheap.

DUSTY AIN'T RUSTY
The National league has acquired another colorful umpire in Rotund Lynton (Dusty) Boggess, who will make his fifth trip to the majors next spring to call balls and strikes. . . . As a player, Dusty made four trips to the big leagues but admits he was there "only long enough for coffee." . . . The reason came out once when a Texas league rookie asked Boggess' advice on how to shake a batting slump. . . . "Shucks, kid, I don't know," replied Dusty. "Just do what I did. Retire after you've been in one for a dozen years."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Although Count Fleet twice won races at 1 to 20 odds last summer, he wasn't the year's shortest-priced winner. On May 19 a hoss named Indian Goods won at Victoria park, Canada, and returned $2.05 for $2 or 1 to 40. . . . Raymond Johnson, the cornerstone of the Nashville Tennessee sports dept., picked five football Bowl winners in advance and folks are wondering if that's a record.

SERVICE DEPT.
Lieut. Comm. George Halas, owner of the Bears, expects to go to sea within a few weeks. . . . That swell boxing team at the San Antonio aviation cadet center has been ruled out of Golden Gloves tournaments by an order from the flying training command limiting Athletics to intra-post stuff.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 6.—Lon Warneke is ready to give up chunking baseballs at opposing batters for a while and start tossing "hand grenades at Hitler and Hirohito."

The veteran Chicago Cubs' pitcher took his screening examination before his draft board here last night and disclosed that although he had not been reclassified I-A, he has notified the Cubs not to depend on him for spring training.

Married and the father of two children, Warneke will be 35 in March.

Minor League Baseball Makes Strong Effort To Carry On

(This is another in a series, written expressly for The Associated Press by sports leaders in which prospects for 1944 are discussed.)

By W. G. BRAMHAM,
President, National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—One cannot make rash predictions with a global war in progress, but minor league baseball has demonstrated its determination to carry on in spite of difficulties encountered. The continuation depends upon the needs of the government in the all-important item of manpower and it has first call.

As we go into 1944 our nine leagues which finished the 1943 season are planning to carry on. Practically all of the leagues which suspended because of the war are ready to reopen the moment they are able to muster sufficient players of professional caliber. They have protected their territories and kept their organizations.

Minor league baseball has been through two war seasons and we confess a pardonable pride over the record it has left in the history books of the game.

Nine League Schedule
After World War I—1918—nine minor leagues started the season, but only one of them completed its schedule, and that was curtailed by the "work or fight" order of the government.

The season of 1943—the second of World War II—saw 10 minor leagues toe the mark, including the experimental Class E league, the first ever organized in the history of the National association. This little circuit failed to obtain concessions it desired and was forced to shut down in July.

But the nine leagues with previous experience went through their full schedules and post-season series.

We feel the attitude of the government and the public had much to do with our continuation. Those agencies, we believe, learned from World War I the importance of morale and the high estate of sports in the picture.

The government cooperated in the continuation of the game as far as it could without affecting the actual war effort, and the public responded to prove that baseball had a place and a job to do in the emergency.

Minor league baseball can point to its record in the years hence, and it will continue to function in such a manner as to enhance the pride which has been generated in two years of operation under conditions created by world-wide turmoil.

"THAT KEITH WOMAN"

by PHYLLIS MOORE GALLAGHER

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Peter finally made a revelation: "Letty, I think I know why Pamela Keith was murdered. I've been doing some investigating on my own. And I've come to the conclusion that Richard Keith's will is behind it all."

"Richard Keith's will?" I gasped. "But, Peter, Richard Keith died years ago!"

"Just the same, I think his will is the key to the mystery."

"Have you told anyone else about this?" I asked.

"No one but you, so far . . . and a lawyer."

"Then for heaven's sake, don't let anyone else find out!"

Peter grinned. "I believe you would care if I met with an accident."

"Care? I'd care, all right," I whispered.

Peter drew the car to a stop at the curb, turned off the ignition, and began to tell me a story so fantastic that it strained even my imagination.

Peter spoke rapidly as though reading from a book record: "Letty, on December 22, 1920, Pamela married Wayne Courtney. They eloped to Rockville, Maryland, went on a week's honeymoon somewhere in Pennsylvania, and returned to Washington, December 30. On January 2, Courtney resumed his college classes, the Christmas holidays being over, and Pamela went back to her boarding school. At that time, Pam wasn't quite nineteen and Wayne wasn't quite twenty. Shortly after that elopement, Pamela's parents learned of her secret marriage. Annulment proceedings were started and on January 15, 1921, Pam sailed from New York for a visit with an aunt, her mother's sister, in Reno."

"Just when Pamela met Richard Keith, I don't exactly know. But it was in May of 1921 that he arrived in Reno and began divorce proceedings against his wife, the former Gladys Newcomb. He returned to Rio, a so-called free man, in November of that year, and of course Pam had long since been free. Keith and Pam were married, November 26, 1921. Sandra Keith was born of this union on August 24, 1922. They came to the States within a year."

Peter paused while he lit his pipe; then went on: "Keith was killed in an automobile accident, October 25, 1922. Soon afterward, Pamela with little Sandra returned to South America to clear up Keith's affairs there. She and her daughter returned to Washington, September 6, 1924."

"For heaven's sake, how do you know all this—these details, dates?" I asked.

"Because I made it my business to find out. I'm Richard Keith's nephew!"

I caught my breath.

"My father was killed in the war," Peter went on slowly. "My mother and her brother—Richard Keith—hadn't spoken since Mother's marriage to my dad. Don't think my father was a failure or anything like that. He was a poet and Richard Keith couldn't understand his sensitive nature. When Dad married Mother, Richard Keith was convinced it was for his money, so he promptly cut Mother out of his life. Of course, he was wrong about Dad, who didn't give a rap about Keith's money; he worshipped my mother and she worshipped him."

"One of my clearest memories is of my mother's big white satin memory box. It contained, and it still does, all the letters Dad had written Mother from France, snap-shots of him, a Distinguished Service Cross, his officer's record book and little military papers. . . . Captain John Gibson was killed in action April 15, 1918, which was my fourth birthday."

After a rather long silence, Peter continued: "I'm a newspaper man, Letty. I went to Rio last year to write about the Fifth Column in South America. I sent back a lot of stuff which you probably read without noticing my pen name. I sought suspects, among them a certain German who was definitely a local fuhrer. His wife was Spanish, about forty-five or so. I took a room at her house and during that week she and I got quite chummy. She liked Americans, and I made her like me."

"You'd be good at that sort of thing," I remarked, and Peter grinned. Then he went on with his story.

"One night in her parlor I was looking through one of those old-fashioned push-covered family albums, when I came across a newspaper picture of Pamela Keith! I couldn't understand what it was doing there, why this interest in Pamela. Then I remembered it was Rio where Pamela had met my uncle, Richard Keith. It seems that this Spanish woman was formerly the nurse for Pam's daughter from . . . now listen carefully, Letty . . . September 1921 to November 1922! During that time she had the whole care of the little girl, because the little girl's parents were on a world cruise! Very rich American man, the woman told me! From September 1921 to November, 1922, Letty!"

"Why—why, that first date, September, 1921, was before Pamela married Richard Keith," I gasped. "She didn't marry Keith until November 1921!"

"Exactly."

"Then—then Pamela must have had a daughter by—by—Wayne Courtney?" I said, and the thing I'd tried to remember so long was startlingly clear. Sandra Keith bore a marked resemblance to Dr. Courtney.

"That's my guess."

"And that—that daughter is the Sandra we know!" I said definitely.

"Yes, the Sandra we know. Her name, legally, is Chiquita Courtney Cummings. Cummings was Pamela's maiden name. I saw the record of Chiquita's birth, and I saw the record of Sandra Keith's death. The real Sandra died on November 30, 1922, which was the day Pamela reached Rio. When she returned to the United States with her daughter by Courtney, whom she called Sandra Keith and passed off as Richard Keith's daughter, no one discovered the difference. There was just a year's difference between the two little girls. Chiquita probably was as small and dainty then as she is now."

"And—the will?" I asked.

"Yes, the will. Well, Richard Keith was very wealthy, as you know. He made his will shortly after his daughter was born. Naturally he idolized the baby girl. He had given Pamela a million dollars as a pre-nuptial settlement so she took nothing under the will. The estate was left to Sandra, in trust, until she would be twenty-one."

"Richard named three trustees: Pamela, Marvin Eustace, his best friend; and Pamela Castiglioni. It was an unusual trust. It provided that Pamela should be the first trustee and that the estate would allow to the trustee $50,000 a year to pay for Sandra's upbringing. If Pamela died before Sandra was twenty-one, Marvin Eustace and Pamela were to succeed her and to act jointly, unless one had died meanwhile. In that case, the survivor was to become sole trustee."

"Evidently Richard Keith selected Eustace because he knew their life-long friendship would make Marvin a second father to the child, the Countess to further Sandra's social advancement. Pamela must have been a very different sort of person twenty years ago."

"Now with Pamela dead, Marvin and Pamela are trustees?"

"Yes, Letty. Temporarily, anyway."

"Temporarily?"

"Yes, until one of them dies. $50,000 a year could insure a nice life for the surviving trustee."

"Yes, even $25,000 per year represents a nice life for both."

"Richard Keith," Peter went on, "seemed to have had only one objective: Sandra's happiness. He provided that if she fell in love during the trusteeship and married a young man who had no money, the estate should pay the groom, commencing on the wedding day, the income from $100,000 of the trust. This income was to continue during the marriage and was intended to remove any friction that might arise if he were dependent upon Sandra's dote. But there was a flaw in that: The trustees had to approve of the young man. If Sandra married without such approval, the trusteeship continued until Sandra was thirty-one and the income from the $100,000 for the bridegroom was cancelled."

"And Pamela hated Victor Corliss!" I emphasized.

"Yes, Pamela hated Victor," Peter agreed. "And he might have figured that with Pam out of the way, he'd be approved by Eustace and Pamela who were both fond of him."

"That's so," I said.

"And there was another provision in Keith's will," said Peter, re-lighting his pipe. "It was a codicil providing that, if Pamela died before Sandra reached twenty-one, the estate should pay $50,000 to Gladys Newcomb. Some sort of balm for Gladys because of old humiliations, I guess. Evidently Keith never intended Pamela to know about the codicil for fear she would object. His lawyers had it that if Pam had lived through Sandra's twenty-first birthday, the bequest to Gladys would have become void and the codicil would never have been brought to light. Whether Gladys knew of its existence is anybody's guess."

Without Painful Backache

Many suffer from nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
